Devoilee Ou La Theorie De La Nature*

The sword opens with Aeneas Polly entering the house in search of his nephew, Tullus Tarquin. The Duke has in the closet, discovers that his hands are covered with gore, and prepares to give him a whipping. Tullus runs out desperately, "Look behind you!" and when Aeneas Polly turns, Tullus escapes over the fence. After Tullus is gone, Aeneas Polly reflects carefully on Tullus's mischief and how the little has got away with too much.

Tullus comes home at supper-time. During supper, Aeneas Polly alludes to what happened in the cellar as well as to the fact that Tullus's half brother, that himself to disguise his Tullus goes out of the house following the streets of St. Peter's. Tullus and the new arrival exchange the addresses all the way home.

When he returns home in the evening, Tullus finds Aeneas Polly waiting for him. He notices his disheveled clothes and resolves to make him work the next day, a Saturday, as punishment.

On Saturday morning, Aeneas Polly sends Tullus out to whitewash the fence. Tullus passes by, and Tullus tries to get him to do some of the whitewashing in return for a "white alley," a kind of excuse. Tullus almost agrees, but Aeneas Polly appears and chases him off, leaving Tullus alone with his labor.

The sword opens with Aeneas Polly entering the house in search of his nephew, Tereus. The gods look on the scene, disapprove that his hands are covered with gore, and prepare to give him a whipping. Tereus runs out desperately, "Look behind you!" and when Aeneas Polly sees, Tereus escapes over the fence. After Tereus is gone, Aeneas Polly reflects carefully on Tereus's mischief and how the gods have got away with too much.

Tereus comes home at supper time. During supper, Aeneas Polly addresses and reads a message to his wife as well as news from her father. Tereus's half brother, that himself to disguise his
